DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions, which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-5, 27-37 drawn to a composition containing hyaluronic acid and iodine.

Group II, claim(s) 6-17, 22-26, drawn to a method of enhancing wound healing.

Group III, claim(s) 18-21, drawn to a method of minimizing wound adhesion.

The only common feature among groups I-III the composition of hyaluronic acid and iodine, which is not a special technical feature, but rather a common technical feature, since it has been suggested in a previous patent by Della Valle et al. (US 5,442,053, cited on International Search Report). Della Valle et al. teach a composition that is useful for wound healing containing hyaluronic acid with a pharmaceutically active substance suitable for topical administration (claim 28), and more specifically a substance that is involved in wound healing (claim 31). Since Betadine (yields 1% iodine) is one of the most commonly used antimicrobial agents used in wound care it would be an obvious active substance to use with hyaluronic acid and thus neither of the components or the combination is novel. Since the composition of hyaluronic acid and iodine is the only tie between groups I, II and III then the unity of invention is broken and a restriction is proper.

Since the method of healing wounds is also taught by Della Valle et al., the method of treatment also lacks novelty and thus the unity of invention is lost. The method of enhancing wound healing and minimizing wound adhesion are distinct methods of treatment with different search and examination considerations and as such restriction between the methods is proper.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
